

I have always owned Labradors and becoming involved in shooting sports made me realise that having a companion working dog was an essential requirement. I enjoyed training my own dog so much that shooting took more of a back seat. I got hooked more and more by getting involved with Gundog Working Tests initially and then Field Trials. It takes over your whole life eventually.

I have been involved in training and competing with working Labradors for around 20 years now. During this time I have been lucky enough to win Field Trials with a number of different dogs and bred and trained a Field Trial Champion and competed in the UK Retriever Championship.

Having recently retired I now spend most of my time with my wife Paula training our own dogs. I am currently a member of the Kennel Club A Panel of Retriever Judges, a committee member of the International Gundog League (IGL) and the UK Labrador Retriever Club. I am also a current member of the UK Kennel Club Field Trial Liaison Council.
